Remittance

Of course, as you know, the best way to make your remittance is by check or money order, and we urge that you do it this way. However, if that is not possible and you have to send cash or stamps, be sure they are registered. We do not accept C.O.D. orders. Your bushes are shipped prepaid, and we do not ask our customers to pay C.O.D. charges or any freight. A minimum of 50c per order is asked to defray the cost of packing and handling.

Shipping Dates

Our first shipments are made about October 10 and continue through April. As each order is received, it is promptly acknowledged by card, giving you the date the bushes will leave our packing department. You may ask that we make shipment about a certain date and we shall strive to do so; however, because of the thousands of orders received every week, we cannot promise delivery on any specified day. We shall make shipments at the proper planting time for your locality.

Filling Out Your Order Blank

THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT!!! Be sure your full name, your complete street address (or post office box), along with your city and state, are printed plainly at the top of your order blank. In the left-hand column under "quantity wanted," write in figures the number of Rose bushes you want of each variety. There is a place at the bottom of the order blank for the total number of bushes you want and the total amount of money to be enclosed.

Unless you specifically write "No substitution" on your order, if we are sold out of the variety you are ordering, rather than have you disappointed, we shall send another Rose of equal value and as nearly the same color as possible.

Planting, Feeding and General Care OF TY-TEX EVERBLOOMING ROSES

LOCATION FOR PLANTING:

Select a place where there is sun at least half of the day, not under trees or next to hedges.

TIME OF PLANTING:

Plant during the winter months unless the ground is frozen. Late fall or early spring planting is best in cold climates. For southern states we recommend fall planting.

PREPARATION OF BEDS:

- (1) Remove grass, weeds or other plants for a width of 4 feet if for a single row; 6 feet if for a double row. For convenience in caring for plants and cutting of blooms, it is best not to have more than two rows together. For further planting, allow a walkway of about 5 feet to the next row of Roses.
- (2) Dig a trench 12 to 15 inches deep and about 2 feet wide for each row.
- (3) Place 3 to 5 inches of rotted manure (cattle preferred) or compost in the bottom of the trench.
- (4) Add 2 or 3 inches of soil on top of the manure or enough so the lowest branches and union with the understock will be just above the soil level when the planting is completed.

CARE OF BUSHES ON ARRIVAL:

Unpack and soak the roots in water for about an hour. If the bushes cannot be planted immediately, dig a trench and bury plants, roots down, in soil except for the top inch or two of the canes. Wet down if the soil is dry. Plant bushes as soon as possible.

SETTING OUT THE BUSHES:

- (1) Trim the roots to not more than 12 inches long.
- (2) Prune the tops back to about 8 inches from the union (where the branching originates).
- (3) Bushes may be spaced as close as 18 inches apart in a row.
- (4) Place a mound of soil under the base of each bush so the roots slant downward into the trench. Cover the roots with good top soil and pack slightly by tamping or tramping. Water if the soil is dry.
- (5) Mound the soil over the union and around the canes for the winter, but rake away the mound just before new growth starts.

FERTILIZING:

Apply in the spring about the time growth starts and repeat every six or eight weeks as the growth requires. Fall applications are not advised. Well-rotted cattle manure is one of the best fertilizers for Roses. Apply about 1 or 2 inches deep around each bush but not touching the canes. Commercial fertilizers are satisfactory. Complete fertilizers, 5-10-5 or similar formulas, are good but should be used at not more than 1 or 2 pounds per 100 square feet of bed space. This is approximately 1 pound for 20 bushes for each application. Soluble-type fertilizers of high analysis are excellent but should be used in lesser amount. These can be applied as liquids if desired.

PRUNING ESTABLISHED BUSHES:

General pruning should be done in late winter or just before the buds start swelling. Prune out all the dead wood. Remove enough top growth to keep the bushes the desired size and shape. Make the pruning cuts close to joints or just above buds (this is better than using paints or pastes over cuts). Climbing Roses that bloom only in the spring should be pruned immediately after the bloom period.

WINTER PROTECTION:

Where freeze damage is anticipated, cover the crowns and canes by mounding with soil to 8 or 10 inches deep but remove as soon as growth starts in the spring.

EXTRA PRECAUTIONS:

- (1) Plant so the finished bed will be high if the soil is not well drained, or level with the surrounding area otherwise.
- (2) Plant shallow enough so the soil is just at the base of the union or crown and does not touch the branches during the growing season.
- (3) For black-spot disease of leaves a sulphur-copper fungicide is very effective if used properly. Dust lightly within 24 hours after each rain or once a week during continuous rains; a sufficient amount of fungicide is not unsightly. Treat when the air is still. Begin using a fungicide before black-spot appears. (Black-spot spreads only during rains or when the leaves are wet from watering.) The new fungicide Captan, applied as a spray once a week, is highly satisfactory for black-spot control if the lower as well as the upper side of the leaves is treated. Ten pounds of dust fungicide will care for about 50 bushes a year, or one pound of 50% wettable Captan for spraying.
- For mildew use sulphur-containing dusts or sprays during cool weather. In hot weather spray with Mathieson No. 466 copper fungicide.
- (4) Use insecticides when needed. Principal insects are aphids (plant lice). Benzene hexachloride (BHC or Lindane), Malathion, nicotine sulfate, pyrethrum, or rotenone are suitable controls, but avoid getting the first three named on vegetables. For red-spider mite (tiny insects yellowing and finally webbing the leaves), spray with Aramite. For beetles, caterpillars, and other leaf-chewing insects use lead arsenate or DDT (not household DDT).
- (5) Avoid sprays containing oils that might burn.
- (6) Avoid wetting the foliage when watering, particularly if black-spot disease is present.
- (7) Cut blooms short until bushes become good size. Snap off old blooms to help build the plants as well as to improve the appearance. Usually when cutting flowers it is best to leave two or three leaves of each flower stem on the bush, making each cut as close as possible above the leaf joint (axil). Do not leave stubs after any cutting or pruning. Remove dead wood at any time of year.
- (8) Cultivate shallowly or just enough to kill weeds.
- (9) Keep fertilizers off leaves and canes except the specially diluted foliage nutrients.
- (10) Mulch with a 1 to 2-inch layer of pine needles, leaves, sawdust, cotton burrs or other suitable materials to conserve moisture and help control weeds.
